Hello everyone!

The 2015 year is on its homestretch and Year End festivities are around the corner. However our industries have little to celebrate, if anything at all. Challenges are legion with few signs of improvement to be seen.

However, on a remarkably positive note, I am very pleased to report about some activities in and around the Mining Insurance Group.

In respect of the wording, we retained (as mentioned earlier this year) some consultancy and we are making good progress and hope to be able to deliver a form open for discussion in early 2016.

In our July 2015 Newsletter we asked members to participate in a survey to help us to determine the direction of MIG. I want to thank everybody who has taken the time to answer the online survey questions. It has been quite a success to receive 120+ responses. The results of our questionnaire are now published on our MIG website for your perusal.

Besides our main deliverables, the wording and the claims protocol, there were also two clear 'requests' from the survey; the formation of a mining claims' database and a regular (annual?) MIG Conference.

Your MIG Board, in its last meeting, took these wishes on board and started working on them. We will come back to you and ask for support accordingly.

In accordance with our goal of being a forum for discussion on matters concerning our industries, in the near future we will publish (again in the member's section of our website) a technical paper in respect of tailings facilities, which was produced by one of our members and is meant to encourage members to discuss their views.

I am also happy to report that your MIG President and Vice President are keynote speakers at the annual Risk Management Institute of Australasia conference in Adelaide in November 2015. We will be covering specifically the formation and progress of the mining insurance industry and our Association.

And last but not least, I am delighted to report the successful launch of the MIG regional group covering Europe, Middle East and Africa (EMEA) in London in September.

As always, the MIG Board thanks you for all your support. The Association is growing and the value offering is improving. 2016 is likely to be an exciting year with our first MIG conference and a proper first draft wording.
